Florida House of Representatives – House Redistricting Committee Redistricting Update – June 17, 2011

Public Participation Toolkit

The Florida House of Representatives' public participation documents are updated to reflect the outreach being done for the upcoming public input meetings on redistricting. The meetings begin next week in Tallahassee on Monday, June 20, and will also include meetings in Pensacola, Fort Walton Beach and Panama City. For more information regarding the meetings:

- Click Here to see the media advisory regarding next week's meetings.
- Click Here to watch our latest video update with helpful information regarding the public input meetings and how to participate.

Below are the various outreach and other helpful materials from the House's Public Participation Toolkit, regarding the public input meetings, how Floridians can participate, MyDistrictBuilderTM and other educational resources regarding redistricting. The most popular of the materials below will always be available at www.floridaredistricting.org, with the full menu available via our Blog & Resources page at mydistrictbuilder.wordpress.com/participation.

You are welcome to use any of the materials for your own education and involvement, or to help others get involved. For example, you may find that the 60-second public service announcement video helpful, in combination with perhaps one the public participation fliers, in presenting on the topic of redistricting to a community organization.

Also, note that the House's legislative home page, www.myfloridahouse.gov, was just updated (a few minutes ago!!!) to include direct links to www.floridaredistricting.org, MyDistrictBuilderTM and a portal for watching the webcasts of the redistricting public input meetings. The direct link for watching the webcasts – live or replay – is <http://www.floridaredistricting.org/media.aspx>. We will also include that link at www.floridaredistricting.org.
