Florida House of Representatives – House Redistricting Committee Redistricting Update – January 13, 2012

Redistricting Options Narrowed – The Time Is Now To Voice Your Suggestions On The House's Proposed Redistricting Maps!

Monday, the House's redistricting subcommittees narrowed their options for redistricting to the bills listed below (3 State House, 3 congressional, and 1 State Senate). Already, the maps below have benefited from additional public input since publishing these and other options on December 6. However, if you have not chimed in yet, it's time to hear from you.

House Redistricting Committee's Timeline Through January 27

Over the next two weeks, the House Redistricting Committee will workshop these options, and select and approve a State House map, a State Senate map, and a congressional map. The Committee's expected timeline for Weeks 2-3 of Session is as follows:

- Friday, January 20, 2012 – (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) – the Redistricting Committee will conduct a workshop of the seven redistricting bills listed above. The Committee will not be taking any votes during this meeting.
- The workshop will be segmented into two parts. The first half of the meeting will be devoted to a review of public input received since the House's options for congressional and state legislative maps were first published on December 6, 2011. Additionally, we will be allowing public comment on the proposed maps at the meeting. The second part of the meeting will be devoted to staff presentations of the proposed maps.
